

Hello, I'm Sapna and I am a private tutor for the 7+ and 8+ assessments. I work on the understanding that every child develops at their own pace. I enjoy working with parents to ensure their child gets into the school which is right for them. I do not believe in pushing a child if they are not ready.

I graduated with First Class Honours in Economics and Accounting from Mumbai University, before completing an MBA in Finance and Marketing from Newcastle Business School. I have worked with top manufacturing and printing companies in Mumbai mainly in marketing and advertising.

My career commenced in education after qualifying in Early Childhood care and Education from Sophia college in Mumbai. A relocation saw me leave teaching temporarily to explore a career in retail, where I enjoyed the new challenge of working in Buying and Merchandising for Mothercare and John Lewis Partnership.

My love for teaching always stayed with me. In 2016, after starting my family, I launched a private tuition business from my home in St John's Wood, offering consultations for 4+ and in person tuitions for the 7+ and 8+ assessments, to gain entry to the top academic London schools.

My mission is for every child to get into a school that will enable them to thrive, stay motivated and perform to the best of their ability. I instil a strong understanding of key concepts which builds a solid foundation for the assessment and beyond. My students regularly receive offers from top London schools including UCS, Highgate, City Junior School, South Hampstead, North London Collegiate, Latymer, Haberdashers for Boys, Westminster under school, Kings College and St Paul's school.
